Are You Interested in a FULL SCHOLARSHIP and FULL-TIME EMPLOYMENT?

WHO IS ELIGIBLE?

If you are a full-time undergraduate student who will have completed two years of study by May 2009, or you are thinking of going to graduate school, then you are eligible for a full scholarship and exciting employment opportunities. U.S. citizenship is required.

WHAT DOES A SCHOLARSHIP INCLUDE?

If you are eligible, you receive:

- Full tuition, fees, and cost of books
- An annual stipend of $12,000 (undergraduates) or $17,000 (graduate students)
- Paid internship opportunities at the Department of Defense
- Travel expenses for related conferences

After graduation, you’ll work as a civilian employee at the Department of Defense, one year for each year of scholarship. Jobs are information security related, and you’ll have an opportunity to work with leading-edge technologies and the most sophisticated infrastructures. After your service, you may be offered a full-time permanent civilian position with the Department of Defense.
